DETAILED ACTIONInformation Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed 16 July 2004 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(2), which requires a legible copy of each cited foreign patent document; each non-patent literature publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; and all other information or that portion which caused it to be listed. It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Drawings

Figure 1 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Art Unit: 2882

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ochiai et al. (US Patent Application Publication 2002/0168050; hereinafter Ochiai).

Ochiai discloses, in figures 1 and 2 and throughout the disclosure, an x-ray source (1) comprising:

- an x-ray tube including a target (10) generating an x-ray response to an electron beam incident thereon emitted from an electron gun (16) and an x-ray exit window (paragraph 22, line 5) emitting thus generated x-ray;
- a power supply having a structure including an insulating block molding (paragraph 24, line 4) therein a voltage generating part (15) supplying a voltage to the x-ray tube;
- a first planar member (40b) securing the x-ray tube while being arranged on one side of the insulating block; and
- a second planar member (40) disposed on a side of the insulating block opposite from the first planar member;
 - wherein the first and second planar members are fastened to each other while holding the insulating block therebetween (paragraph 24, lines 4-7).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ochiai as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Collida et al. (US Patent 6,860,092; hereinafter Collida).

However, Ochiai fails to teach or fairly suggest the insulating block surface being coated with a conductive paint.

Collida teaches coating an insulating layer with a conductive paint (column 4, lines 59-61).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include a conductive paint layer to the insulating block of Ochiai because it removes any excess charge from the insulating block to maintain a grounded potential (Collida; column 4, lines 61-64).
